MANY WHALES

Caught in Alaskan Waters, According to Company Manager.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 8.—The manager of a large whaling station at Kotzebue, Alaska, who has just returned from his season's work, reports that his company took 167 whales, yielding 15,400 tons of fresh meat, excellent in flavor and highly nutritious.

An effort is being made to place whale meat on the market as a table food, whalers insisting that this flesh is equal to any eaten by man, but not used ashore because of ignorance.

Yes, many people have told us the same story—distress after eating, gas, heartburn. A Rexall Dyspepsia Tablet before and after each meal will relieve you. Sold only by us—25c.

AS A WOMAN SEES IT

By RHETA CHILDE DORR.

The peace propaganda which has reached its climax in Henry Ford's sensational voyage to the neutral countries, accompanied by several hundred leading pacifists, is now a new development. It does not indicate any advance of social thinking, nor does it give much hope that the human race has progressed nearer to the point where it can dispense with war. Every modern war, and very likely every ancient one, had its peace party. There have always been people to whom war was so abhorrent that they lost sight of the fact that there might be worse alternatives.

What should be sought, in this present frightful struggle, is not peace, but a decision. Two social and political ideals are opposing each other in Europe. One of them must prevail, and the war is being fought to determine which one that shall be. To stop the fighting now would do no good. War would simply break out as soon as the central powers and the quadruple entente had recovered their wind and piled up a few millions of shells. The most economical thing that could happen, economical in lives, in suffering, in grief and sorrow and in money, would be for one side or the other to find means of hastening the decision.

People forget how active the pacifists were during the Civil war. "Anything to end this fratricidal war," was the cry heard constantly during the entire four years. In Europe there was persistent talk of the duty of neutral countries to intervene. Suppose they had. Suppose, after the disastrous Peninsular campaign, when the advance on Richmond was apparently stopped, when the Seven Days' battle had been lost to the federal forces with horrible slaughter of both sides, the peace counsels had prevailed and the war ended with a compromise.

The institution of slavery would have remained, and as long as it existed the United States, if the terms of peace left a United States, would have lived under the menace of war. The economic problems which were the underlying cause of the Civil war would have remained, and until they were settled there could have been either peace or prosperity in the country. Does anybody really think that a patched-up false peace would have been better for us than a war fought to finish?

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8.—Harry White, colored, is resting comfortably on a cot in a hospital in this city, recovering from wounds inflicted on his head with an ax. The ax with which the wounds were made is splintered and unfit for further use.

CAMPBELL IS SUGGESTED
FOR SENATE

And the State Colony in Washington City is in a Flurry as a Result.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—The state colony is in a flutter today over the prospects of a new senatorial possibility in the Grand Old Party and of the political household. He is James L. Caldwell, the Huntington banker, veteran Republican, and one of the few vigorous and active party leaders who saw service and a brisk lot of it, on the Union side in the Civil war.

There is more than idle gossip connecting Colonel Caldwell with the nomination for United States senator at the hands of the Republicans of West Virginia next June. The Telegram's correspondent can state with assurance that the subject has been taken up seriously with the wealthy and distinguished Huntingtonian, and while not committing himself one way or the other on it, men who are evidently in position to know, state that the suggestion is not by any means displeasing to Mr. Caldwell.

It seems to be the purpose of those who are at present talking up the availability of the Huntington man to see to it that the proposal is circulated sufficient to serve as a "feeler." A great deal depends on how the suggestion of Mr. Caldwell's name is received by the voters in the party ranks. If it "takes" with them in the highly favorable way that some men making it hope, it is by no means beyond future probabilities that Caldwell may become an active candidate.

In connection with the Caldwell talk, which is a development here of the last forty-eight hours, but which is clearly understood, originated at a more or less informal conference held at Huntington a week or more ago. It is recalled that Colonel Caldwell had an ambition to represent his state in the United States Senate, which was made decidedly apparent to Senator Nathan Bay Scott in the year 1905. It is remembered by the politicians that while the contest between Scott and Caldwell lasted it was about the liveliest set-to that the politicians of the state had looked on at for some time. It came to a sudden termination, after the Huntington man had surprised the state with a showing of strength that the average politician had no idea that he could or would show, through the harmonizing intervention of Senator S. B. Elkins. Caldwell withdrew and left the field to Scott, the general understanding at that time being that he would have substantial help in realizing his ambition at the expiration of Scott's second term, or sooner, should anything happen to Elkins. However, nothing came of that. Caldwell took no part in politics as a candidate for office after that one and rather sensational trial, although he continued, as always, to keep in close touch with the party organization in the Caldwell county region.

Colonel Caldwell is coming to Washington next week to attend the big banquet of the Republican league, the meeting of the national committee, and to mingle with the large gathering of leading Republicans that will be present from all over the country. He will, it is expected, not overlook the opportunity to meet and talk it over with the considerable number of leading West Virginia Republicans who will be here at the same time. Mr. Caldwell has reserved a suite of rooms at the New Willard, and politicians here see in his interest evidence that he is availing himself of an opportunity to investigate party sentiment, and see what signs that may be seen favorable to him becoming an out-and-out candidate for the nomination for United States Senate.

The news that Mr. Caldwell was considering the senatorship matter caused a hubbub of conversation among the West Virginia politicians assembled here. Friends of ex-Governor White, up until now the only avowed candidate, viewed the importance of the Caldwell talk variously. It was apparent that they were more or less excited over it.

MESMERIZED, SHE SAYS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Charging she was compelled by hypnotic power to wed, Mrs. Pasteur Riberia filed suit recently for annulment of her marriage. Riberia, a young Porto Rican mesmerized her, she said, but lost his charm after they had been married a few months.

Why Tolerate Catarrh?

You have noticed, no doubt, that any cold aggravates nasal catarrh, and the flow of mucous amazes you that such objectionable matter could find lodgment in your head. To ignore this catarrh when the cold subsides is wrong because it continues to slowly injure the delicate linings of the nasal passages and clog them up.

To correct catarrh, cleanse the nostrils frequently with a solution of warm water and salt, insert vaseline on retiring, and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals for one month. Scott's acts through the blood to feed the tissues, and contains soothing glycerine to check the inflammation and heal the sensitive membranes.

Scott's is pleasant to take.

NAVAL WORK

In the Shipyards of Great Britain to Be Completed in Few Weeks.

(Correspondence of Associated Press.) LONDON, Dec. 8.—While the vast resources of the various ship building yards of Great Britain are largely concentrated on naval work, it is believed that during the next few months much of the urgent naval ship building will be completed and a certain number of men released for mercantile building and repair work. At present, however, there is great difficulty in fitting new mercantile vessels with propeller machinery and other equipment, largely through the number of men engaged on admiralty work and more recently by the new recruiting campaign which is slowly but surely depleting the yards of necessary workmen. Despite these drawbacks seven new vessels have just been completed on the Clyde, including the New Zealand passenger steamer "Aotearoa," 15,000 tons, the Leyland and motor liner "Bostonian" and the motor ship "Montezuma."

Rugby schools were founded in 1567.

Nerv-Worth Gets the Endorsement of Omer Talkington.

The quality of these new local statements in behalf of this world's greatest nerve tonic keeps steps with their number. Together, these two elements are smashing the doubts of the skeptics. Here are words of praise that have weight to them:

"Burke's Drug Store—I had stomach trouble and nervous indigestion. Could not eat fresh meat without it distressing me. Some gases on my stomach which made me very nervous. Poor sleeper. Jerked and started in my sleep. My sleep did me little good. Was not refreshed when I'd get up in the morning.

"Have taken one bottle of Nerv-Worth. I feel quite a bit better. Sleep fine. More refreshed and rested in the morning than I was before. I can eat meat and most everything now. My general condition is improved. I recommend Nerv-Worth as being a fine medicine.

(Signed) "OMER TALKINGTON."

Mr. Talkington's address is City, Box 297, but he lives in the Industrial Addition of Clarksburg. He is well and favorably known by the entire community. When a man of his standing feels fellow citizens that one bottle of Nerv-Worth overcame nervousness of a distressing and deep-rooted character, evidence submitted that can be tied to.

Try a bottle on your own nervous ills today. Burke will refund your dollar if there are no benefits.—Advertisement.

BIG LOAD

Of Liquor is Taken from Grasselli Man, and He is Jailed.

Staggering under the weight of two heavily laden suit cases containing liquor of various kinds, Joseph Alonzo, of Grasselli, was arrested as he alighted from an east bound passenger train Wednesday forenoon at the local railroad station by J. Walter Bee, of Parkersburg, deputy state commissioner of prohibition. Alonzo and his liquor were taken to the county jail. He is charged with being an habitual bootlegger and will be tried, or will have a hearing, before a magistrate as soon as it can be arranged.

One of the suit cases carried by Alonzo contained fourteen quarts of whiskey, one pint of alcohol, two quarts of rum, two quarts of wine and four small bottles of beer, according to a label on its top. The other suit case contained fourteen quarts of whiskey, also according to a label. Mr. Bee said he arrested Alonzo recently at Parkersburg and had him convicted of violating the prohibition law.

POSITIONS TAKEN.
